Judge G. H. McWherter

County Judge, G. H. McWherter, Dies at Home

George H. McWherter, 68, a judge of Westmoreland County common pleas court for 15 years, died at his home in Greensburg late yesterday morning following a lengthy illness.

He was in the midst of his second 10-year term when death came. Illness caused him to be absent from the bench most of the last two years.

Judge McWherter was active in Democratic politics before becoming a judge. He served as a state committeeman for 22 years, was chairman of the county Democratic organization and was a delegate-at-large to the 1936 national convention.

He was elected to the bench in 1941 and was reelected in 1951.

He served as an assistant district attorney from 1934 through 1938.

A native of Derry, he attended public schools in Derry and graduated from the University of Pittsburgh in 1916, the same year he

Says Congress Must Revise Certain Laws To Get Reductions

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower suggested to Congress today that his requests for appropriations could be cut by some $1,858,000,000.

But he said that substantial reduction in his proposed $71,800,000,000 spending budget for fiscal 1958 "cannot be made" unless Congress revises or repeals certain laws obligating the government to spend specific sums for specific services.

What the President proposes to trim by $1,858,000,000 is the so-called obligational authority for fiscal 1958. As contained in the budget he presented to Congress in January this is estimated at $73,600,000,000.

If the President's proposals for reducing actual appropriations are carried out, the figure for appropriations or obligational authority for fiscal 1958 will be almost the same as the estimated spending figure.

He outlined the proposal in a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.)

No Tax Cut Support

Eisenhower held out some hope over the long run for tax cuts, but gave no support for any reductions now.

"Given continuation of healthy economic growth and of strict expenditure control," the President said, reduction in appropriation requests of $1,858,000,000 "will begin to lay a firm fiscal foundation, for the time when we can be sufficiently assured that our income will exceed our expenses as to justify a reasonable tax cut for every taxpayer while we continue to reduce the government's debt."

Eisenhower drew a careful distinction between cutting expenditures proposed in the budget and appropriations requests.

While no substantial reductions can be made in expenditures, he said, there is a "more promising outlook" in reducing requests for new spending authority.

He said budgetary reviews since January have disclosed the feasibility of postponing certain requests "without serious damage to program levels."

Suggests Actions

The President then suggested these actions, some of which previously have been mentioned:

—Reduction by 500 million dollars of new spending authority for the military assistance phase of the mutual security program.

—Reduction by 200 million dollars of new spending authority for military public works. Less urgent projects could be delayed.

—Reduction by 254 million dollars of new spending authority for the soil bank program. This can be brought about by new projections of the program's operating rate and related financial requirements.

—Reduction of the Federal National Mortgage Association's spending authority of 50 million dollars.

—Reduction in new spending authority of 25 million dollars for college housing authorizations.

—Reduction in new spending authority of 13 million dollars through adjustments of Corps of Engineer construction schedules.

The President also suggested that the House may wish to give attention to an additional item in

Truman Speaker At Democratic State Dinner

HARRISBURG (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman will be the principal speaker at the Democratic State Committee's annual $100-a-plate fund raising dinner here June 19.

Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr said the dinner site was switched from the state Farm Show Building to the Zembo Mosque and the adjoining Scottish Rite Cathedral.

"We felt that these arrangements would be more comfortable for all concerned because air conditioning will be available," Barr said. The former president will speak from the main auditorium at the Mosque, with his speech carried through a public address system to other rooms in the two buildings.

Barr added the committee was "delighted" Truman was able to fit the dinner into his schedule. He said "we know that thousands of Pennsylvanians will want to be on hand to greet him."

The Democratic State Finance Committee, headed by Philadelphia contractor Matthew H. McCloskey Jr. is handling dinner arrangements.

Notices of the affair were sent out recently by William D. Teefy, Philadelphia, dinner chairman, to some state workers and the party faithful, together with an installment plan for payment of contributions.

Leader Says Special Session 'Ridiculous'

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today termed any thought "at this time" of a special session of the Legislature "completely ridiculous."

The governor pointed out there was still time for the current Republican-controlled General Assembly to push through the bulk of his administration's program.

He repeated his appeal that the GOP legislative leaders "get down to brass tacks" and approve the "constructive, good government" program sought by the administration. Most of it is in Republican-dominated committees.

The governor told his news conference the program was "more than an administration program... rather one that belongs essentially to the people themselves."

Senate Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) suggested this week that his party colleagues give up plans for final adjournment by May 31 and recess indefinitely to forestall any possible move by the governor to reconvene them in special session later.

"I want to get the job done here and now," the governor said. "It would be completely ridiculous to think about a special legislative session while the Assembly is still here."

The governor fended off questions on what action he would take if the Assembly did not push through the bulk of the 200 administration bills. He said he had

Local Youth Is Hurt When Bike Falls Under Truck

A 13-year-old Monessen youth, Emil Massey, of 617 Third St., suffered a broken left leg when his bike slid under the wheels of a trailer-truck near Fifth St. and Donner Ave. about 10.20 this morning.

The boy was rushed to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital where his condition was described as good at noon today.

According to reports, Massey and a companion, Donald Mathieu, 13, of 500 Third St., were riding bicycles on Donner Ave. when the latter youth heard a trailer-truck approaching and attempted to pull over closer to the curb.

The Massey bike collided with the Mathieu bike and the former slid between the front and back wheels of the truck. The boy's left leg was under the bike when a portion of the bike was struck by the truck.

Driver of the truck was Andrew Emanuel, of Akron, O.

Local Post Office To Open Saturday

Postmaster Edward Januszewski said the Monessen post office will be open as usual Saturday.

The office was closed last Saturday because of a cutback ordered by the postal department in Washington.

The local postmaster said the post office will be open Saturday and other weekdays from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Summerfield Is Criticized for Postal Squabble

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. J. Vaughan Gary (D-Va.) said today there is no need for Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield to continue some of the postal cuts he made during his squabble with Congress.

Gary, chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on postal funds, said Summerfield certainly should be able to restore full service with the 41 million dollars Congress gave him.

"He's running the post office. The Congress is not," Gary told the United Press. "Any cuts are his responsibility."

Gary added that if Summerfield can't get by with the money Congress allowed him "we'll probably have to give him the Treasury."

Summerfield retained two service cuts after Congress appropriated six million dollar less than the 47 million dollars he asked to run the postal service until the current fiscal year ends June 30.

Post office windows remain on a reduced 8½-hour daily schedule and business area deliveries are limited to two instead of the previous three a day.

Other curtailments were restored—chiefly Saturday mail deliveries and Saturday post office service which will be back to normal this Saturday.

AEC Claims Soviet Sets Off Explosion

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that the Russians on Tuesday set off "one of the largest" nuclear explosions in their current test series. It was the fifth Soviet atomic explosion since April 3.

Today's was the 23rd U.S. announcement of a Russian atomic test since September, 1949. Since many of the U.S. announcements referred to entire test programs, instead of single shots, the Soviet total is greater than 24. Informed sources believe it to be 40-plus.

Should Be Exempt

HARRISBURG (UP) —Gov. George M. Leader suggested today that children of parents who have religious scruples against compulsory polio shots for school children be exempt from the proposed program.

Governor Can Name Temporary County Judge

The choice of a successor to Westmoreland County Common Pleas Judge George H. McWherter, who died yesterday, was already being discussed actively in county political circles today.

The vacancy has occurred too late, informed sources agreed, for candidates to be nominated by the voters at the May 21 primary.

Gov. George M Leader, who is a Democrat as was Judge McWherter, could appoint a new judge, but the appointee, it is understood, would serve only the balance of this year.

The county committees of the two major parties could each designate a candidate with a choice to be made by the voters at the general election in November.

The situation is complicated by the fact that the terms of two other common pleas judges expire this year. Six candidates are

Police Car Is Hit; Driver Faces Charges

A Monessen police car was one of three cars involved in an accident last night that resulted in one of the drivers being arrested on three different charges, it was learned today.

Facing charges of operating a car without a driver's license, traveling too fast for conditions and disorderly conduct is Louis Mosebaugh, of 53 Donner Ave.

Mosebaugh, it was said, started a chain-reaction accident near the intersection of Third St. and Schoonmaker Ave. He reportedly rammed into the rear of a car operated by Nick Bigiatis, of Stockdale, causing the latter car to crash into the rear of the police car occupied by Lt. James Horan and Patrolman Peter Belavich.

The disorderly conduct charge was placed against Mosebaugh when he became difficult with police.

Washington, Pa. Young Men Held In Area Thefts

Two Washington, Pa. young men, arrested by Waynesburg Police early Tuesday are facing a long list of charges including four instances of auto theft and six burglaries, State Police said today.

One of the stolen autos belonged to Henry T. Patton, of 204 Lincoln avenue extension, Charleroi.

Shortly after stealing the auto, the youths, identified as Charles H. Smith, 21, and James Hamne, 19, allegedly entered the Ross tavern on Route 71 in Ellsworth, making off with several bottles of whisky, cigars and pretzels.

Their next target, police said was Willie's Service Station, Route 40, at Scenery Hill.

Various other cars were stolen and many other places burglarized in the all night spree Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Check Charges At Girls' School

PITTSBURGH (UP— Officials of the Gumbert School for Girls are investigating charges of alleged mistreatment and other regularities at the Allegheny County institution for girl delinquents, it was disclosed today.

Former employes voicing complaints against the school administration were scheduled to appear before board members today. A similar session was understood to have been conducted Monday in the City-County Building, but Miss Irene McDermott, president of the school's board of managers, would not disclose the site of this morning's session.

The Gumbert School houses girls sentenced for relatively minor offenses. It is considered a minimum security institution.

Hussein Gets Stronger Control Over Jordan

By UNITED PRESS

King Hussein of Jordan consolidated his hold on the country today, backed by strong Iraq and Saudi Arabian troop concentrations near his border and by a U.S. promise of aid if attacked.

Hussein, after five days of term porizing, issued a royal decree formally firing Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, the chief of staff who fled to Syria when Hussein broke a plot to dethrone him.

In his place he named Maj. Gen. Ali Hayyari, one of the Bedouin tribesmen whose loyal support saved the king from the plot. Another Bedouin, Hafez Majjali, was promoted to major general and made Hayyari's assistant.

At the same time, authoritative Arab sources in Beirut, Lebanon, disclosed how close the Middle East came to war last week. They said Hussein personally delivered an ultimatum on tank-equipped Syrian troop reinforcements to leave the country or be driven out by Iraqi troops and planes.

Syria had sent in 3,000 troops during the Israeli invasion of Egypt. It sent in more when Hussein fired Premier Suleiman Nabulsi, who was pro-Syrian, pro-Egyptian and pro-Soviet. The reports said Hussein met the troops and delivered the ultimatum in person. They withdrew.

Authoritative reports said Hussein was backed up in his formal action against Nuwar by promises of aid from Iraq, his neighbor to the northwest that is ruled by King Feisal, his cousin, and by promises of aid from Saudi Arabia to the south.

He also had before him President Eisenhower's news conference statement of Wednesday that the United States would assist Jordan if it should become the victim of aggression. Middle East sources said the warning was plainly directed toward Syria.

Teamster 'Goons' not Punished in Scranton

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Teamsters official testified today he has done nothing to discipline members of his union who are accused of "goon squad" tactics and dynamiting in Scranton, Pa.

The witness, John Durkin, secretary-treasurer of the Scranton local of the Teamsters and vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, said he had no idea who was responsible for the wave of union violence that surged over Scranton. Much of it hit non-union building contractors.

"I always instruct all our people on strike: 'No violence,'" Durkin told the Senate Labor Rackets Committee.

The committee this week is concentrating its investigation of union racketeering on the Scranton area. Witnesses have told tales of violence ranging from beatings and use of stink bombs to the dynamite-blasting of a non-union building job.

Durkin asked the senators in their questioning to steer clear of incidents in Scranton which have resulted in one state court conviction and three federal indictments against him.

The committee agreed to do this but overruled Durkin's plea that he should not be questioned at all lest his right to a fair trial be prejudiced by publicity.

Durkin said he has pleaded not guilty to three federal indictments which charge him with taking kickbacks and violating the anti-racketeering law in construction of an Army Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna, Pa. He also said he is appealing his conviction in state court of conspiracy in the dynamiting of a home that was being built with non-union labor.

Concerning a stink bomb incident, Durkin, a husky, soft-spoken man of 50, denied that he supplied the bomb which was hurled through the window of the strike-

Judge Berates Jury for Freeing Auto Driver

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A jury which acquitted a Murrysville man of drunken driving Wednesday felt the wrath of a Blair County judge.

Harry F. Hosack, 40, was found innocent but was ordered to pay $173 court costs. North Versailles Twp. Patrolman John Jacobs testified that in October, 1955 he saw Hosack drive from a tavern and followed him. He said he stopped Hosack who admitted he had been drinking.

Jacobs said he ordered Hosack to return to the township police station and wait until he was fit to drive properly. But Hosack disregarded the order, drove through a stop sign and endangered the life of a woman school guard, the officer said.

Hosack was arrested after a scuffle with Jacobs and taken before a doctor who pronounced the driver drunk.

Judge John M. Kiepser told the jury that in the light of the facts of the case, the verdict was a "gross miscarriage of justice."

Six Are Feared Entombed in Capsized Barge

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Towering waves prevented rescuers from using heavy equipment today to try to reach six men feared entombed aboard a capsized oil drilling barge in the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Although authorities held out little hope of finding any of the men alive, skin diver Don Inman was scheduled to try again to reach the barge's decktop sleeping shack from below, using his rubber suit and aqua lung.

Three crewmen were believed to have drowned immediately when waves and possibly shifting equipment caused the barge, carrying a 100-foot drilling rig on its deck, to flip over suddenly while it was being towed by two tugs before noon Wednesday.

Six others were saved, five of them without injury. One was hospitalized.

Inman said ground swells six to seven feet high foiled his repeated attempts to dive beneath the barge Wednesday night while seven rescue boats stood by near the floodlighted area.

Inman also decided that "raps" he thought he heard coming from within the hull, and which he believed were signals of trapped survivors, were "just imagination."

A tug carrying heavy cutting equipment arrived after hours of delay in battling its way downstream to the spot in heavy weather.

The nearly new derrick barge, valued at $1,250,000, was being towed out of the storm - tossed Gulf of Mexico into the calmer mouth of the Mississippi when it suddenly turned bottom up.

The survivors said they had little time to get out, it all happened so fast.

"I was in the pump room," M. E. Flowers of Houston, Tex., said. "We went over and I got out, but I was swept out 100 feet. That may have saved me. I can only swim a little."

Flowers said he saw two of his shipmates floundering and "I don't think they were picked up."

Piez Ballard of Buras, La., said he saw three fellow workmen drown. He identified them as W. J. Davis, 42, Silver Creek, Miss.; James Harvey Jr., Jayess, Miss., and Lewis Hightower, also of Jayess.

Four of the six are registered Democrats; Judge Edward G. Bauer, who is seeking reelection for a second term; District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco; James L. McWherter, a nephew of the deceased judge, and Joseph M. Loughran, a former assistant district attorney.

The two registered Republicans in the judgeship contests are Avra N. Pershing, Jr., and Robert A. Rial, both Greensburg attorneys.

President Judge Richard D. Laird, whose term is expiring, is not a candidate for reelection. The county's fourth common pleas jurist is Judge John M. O'Connell, also a Democrat.

bound Sonny Boy Bakery in Scranton.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said this was in "sharp conflict" with the testimony of former Teamster Paul Bradshaw, who said Durkin furnished the stink bomb to muscleman Robert Hubshman.

When Durkin testified he had given orders against strike violence, McClellan said, "That's rather intriguing. Then why did you have so much violence? Did you do anything about it?"

"I don't know anything about violence," replied Durkin. "I tried to find out who was responsible, but I could not."

Under questioning, he said his investigation consisted of calling the bakery's six striking truck drivers to a meeting and asking them if they threw the stink bomb. Nobody admitted it, he said.

Durkin also said he took no action against five Teamsters who confessed they dynamited the house.

"I have no authority to discipline them," he said. "I can't tell an employer he can't hire an employe."

McClellan argued that they could be kicked out of the union. Durkin said they could not as long as they paid their dues.

Durkin headed a list of three Teamsters officials summoned for testimony on charges they procured "goon squads" for a wave of violence against non - union building contractors in Scranton. In one indictment against him, Durkin is accused of having had a hand in shoving over a wall of a second house.

Budget

the budget of 516 million dollars requested for Army procurement and production.

By including a possible reduction of 300 million dollars in the amount budgeted for contingent expenses, the President said reductions and postponements totaled $1,342,000,000. The total would increase to $1,858,000,000 if the Army item were included.

The President said part of the reductions would have to be restored in the future.

The President also "strongly urged" that steps be taken to increase postal rates as soon as possible to "reduce and eventually eliminate the postal deficit."

Edgar Sticks to His Cut-the-Budget Views

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's big brother Edgar firmly stuck to his cut-the-budget views today despite some White House cooking and a presidential ribbing.

The Tacoma, Wash., lawyer, who caused a sensation Tuesday by calling his brother's $71,800,000,000 budget "too big," attended a stag dinner at the White House Wednesday night. His wife, Lucy, dined upstairs in the mansion with the First Lady.

Afterwards Edgar admitted to reporters waiting for him at his hotel suite that the Chief Executive and their younger brother, Milton, kidded him about his views on the budget.

Not Taking Advice

"But I haven't changed my mind one bit," he said emphatically.

The 68-year-old lawyer, two years older than the President, said his brothers reminded him "that all expenses have gone up."

"Dwight asked me if my office expenses were up," he said. "I said I couldn't tell because I had moved and didn't have any means of comparing."

He said he and Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University, chatted with the President for a while before the dinner.

"They gave me a lesson on how to treat reporters," he said laughing.

Then indicating the reporters in his hotel room with a wave of his arm, he added: "If I'd taken their advice none of you would be here right now."

Receives Favorable Comments

Becoming more serious, he motioned to a large pile of telegrams on a coffee table.

"I've had a stack of wires and phone calls -- all of which have commended me on what I said," he told newsmen. "And up to now nobody has called to criticize me."

"I was surprised at the reaction. It was quite different than I had expected."

At his press conference Wednesday, the President tactfully brushed aside Edgar's criticism of his budget.

"Edgar," he said with a smile "has been criticizing me since I was five years old."

"no basis for any decision" until the Legislature adjourned and he knew what had been done.

No New Costs

Turning to Republican statements that they will not support any legislation that costs additional money, Leader said much of his program included measures which "won't cost a dime" in new appropriations. He said some of the legislation would save money.

Leader would not place a priority tag on the administration legislation but cited eight proposals which he said would not cost money and in some cases would save money. The examples included:

Extending civil service protection to some 10,000 technical and professional employes; regulating conflict of interest in government, requiring lobbyists to register, revamping the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission with a non-salaried board, control of air pollution, outlawing of wire tapping, and establishment of equal pay rights for women.

The governor said he was confident the people would keep close watch on what happened to his program and place the responsibility where it belonged.

The governor said he was "shocked and a little surprised" that Pechan refused to attend a bipartisan meeting April 24 at the executive mansion to discuss the administration's program. However, he added he did not think Pechan's sentiment represented the Republican party. He said that no GOP leaders have accepted the dinner invitation to date.

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Dave Tiburzio, 34, Cleveland, has been turned over to a U.S. marshal here for a hearing Monday on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

The hearing was ordered Wednesday by U.S. Commissioner Acx McNaugher.

Tiburzio was arrested at nearby Etna this week. He had been scheduled to appear for trial at Steubenville, Ohio, last December for a $10,000 robbery of the Baron Cafe in that city last July 9. His $30,000 bail was forfeited when he fled the state.

Lodge Cutting Short European Trip Over Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, is cutting short a European trip because of the Suez Canal situation, it was announced today.

However, American sources said "not too much should be read into" Lodge's return, set for sometime Friday morning.

President Eisenhower indicated at his news conference Wednesday there still was hope for agreement in the Cairo negotiations on the canal's operation.

In view of this American sources saw little possibility for any move to bring the issue to the Security Council next week — and said the delay might even be longer.

American officials in Washington indicated they would place the matter before the Security Council Wednesday in cooperation with France and Britain, but the move was called off following the President's news conference statements.

MRS. ANNA H. TROYCHAK

Mrs. Anna H. Troychak, of 80 Pennsylvania Blvd., Monessen, died this morning at 4 o'clock at her home. She resided with her daughter, Mrs. John (Agnes) Puskar.

A resident of Monessen for the past 52 years, Mrs. Troychak was a member of the Holy Name R. C. Church and the Christian Mothers of the church; the Ladies Auxiliary of the Monessen Slovak Home and the Jednota Lodge, Branch 88, Monessen.

Surviving along with Mrs. Puskar, is another daughter, Mrs. John (Mary) Jurenek, of Clairton and four sons, Stephen and Anthony, of Cleveland, Ohio; Cyril, of Monessen; and Albert, of Ossining, N. Y. Seventeen grandchildren; a brother, Andrew Medvec, and a sister, Elizabeth Medvec, both of Uniontown, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Boilek, of Chicago, also survive.

Friends will be received at the Check Home for Funerals, 100 Schoonmaker Ave., after 7 o'clock this evening. Funeral home visiting hours are from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m.

No Four-party Service

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today studied a request by the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania to eliminate four-party line service in the Brownsville exchange in Fayette County June 16 when it converts to dial service.

The company said all of the present 1,236 four-party residential subscribers agreed to take two-party service at a 60-cents a month rate increase.

The firm said revisions in mileage charges for some 100 subscribers would yield an estimated $9,000 additional annual revenue.

Bell said it plans to extend the Brownsville base rate area to include sections along National Pike, Brush Run Rd., Cox Run Rd. and developments along the community's eastern boundary. This extension, it said, would lower bills of 72 mileage-charge subscribers an estimated $385 annually.

Soil Erosion Discussed At Meeting in Dunlevy

Group Favors Light at End Of C-M Bridge

H. E. Anderson, special assistant to the U. S. Army District Engineer, Pittsburgh, spoke to members of the Washington County Boroughs Association on "Soil Erosion" at their regular meeting last night in Dunlevy

Some 60 members attended the meeting, at which the boroughs of Dunlevy, Speers, Allenport and Stockdale were hosts. President Anthony Karpus, of Brownsville presided.

Anderson's topic was "Bank Erosion Along The Monongahela River" and he said studies of the problem have been made since 1753. He said it has been the policy that individual communities must take care of their own protection from erosion.

The problem of erosion faces all towns on the river from Allenport to California, and the association is asking that a survey be made to see what corrective steps can be taken. Communities are losing a foot of soil a year from erosion.

Anderson pointed out that a recent Act of Congress makes it possible to protect public streets and buildings and that, in West Brownsville, a survey is being made of Water Street which is being undermined.

He said the problem is not new, explaining that "Monongahela" is an Indian word which means "the river with high banks that fall in."

The association took action toward the installation of a traffic signal light at the western end of Charleroi-Monessen bridge, which is soon to become toll-free. On the theory that the bridge will be state-owned, and that there will be an increase in traffic when the toll is lifted, the group passed a resolution asking the state to install a light at the bridge approach.

The association also discussed the need for a traffic light at the western end of the Speers-Belle Vernon bridge

Association Secretary Howard Carson reported on details for the trip to the State Boroughs Association convention in Philadelphia June 24-25-26. The association plans to have a special railroad car for delegates going to the meeting

Nine of the candidates for nomination in the County primary election May 21 attended the meeting and were introduced

The next meeting of the association will be held May 15 at the old Firemen's Hall in New Eagle

Boroughs represented were Allenport, Brownsville, California, Centerville, Charleroi, Coal Center, Cokeburg, Donora, Dunlevy, Long Branch, New Eagle, Newell, North Charleroi, Roscoe, Speers, Stockdale and West Brownsville

K of C to Make Pilgrimage to Valley Churches

In observance of Holy Thursday, members of the Monessen Council, Knights of Columbus will make a pilgrimage to various churches in the Monongahela Valley.

The men will attend mass in their own parish churches this evening and meet at St. Leonard at 9 30 p m. to begin the pilgrimage

Plans for this and other activities were made at a meeting held last night in the council room on Schoonmaker Ave. Grand Knight Louis J. Smith was in charge.

An invitation was extended to the council by the Catholic Women's College Club of the valley to attend the annual Guest Night to be held at St. Thomas Aquinas Church Hall in California

A note of thanks was received for a contribution to the Hungarian Refugee Relief Fund and a donation was voted to the American Cancer Society.

Plans were made for a first degree and a Holy Communion service and breakfast to be held in the near future. Tentative plans were made to have representation at the State Council convention in Philadelphia in May.

A special meeting has been called for Wednesday, April 24, at 8 p. m. at the council room.

Today in Congress:

Congress in Deadlock Over Appropriations

WASHINGTON (UP) — Either the House or the Senate may have to back down today to enable congressmen to head home for Easter on schedule.

The two houses have deadlocked over a 335 million dollar emergency appropriations bill, one of the last hurdles facing Congress before its annual Easter recess scheduled to begin tonight.

Congressional leaders indicated they would hold Congress in session until the measure is passed. Senators and representatives have refused to budge, saying they were "just getting tired of giving in" to each other all the time.

Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.) who blocked a vote on the measure Wednesday, said he was "ready to stay here until the snow on Pennsylvania Avenue is nine feet deep."

There was little argument over the main provisions of the bill, which Congress has been haggling over for several months. But the two houses were stuck on the Senate's insistence to include at least some of the 30 million dollars in mining subsidies requested by the administration.

The bill carries 275 million dollars for public assistance payments through July 1 to dependent children and other needy persons It also provides funds for drought relief and small business loans.

Administration officials have warned they may have to cut off public assistance payments next month unless more money is forthcoming.

Other congressional news:

AEC: Rep Chet Holifield (D-Calif) said that replacing atomic energy commissioner Thomas E Murray would lead to "further domination" of the AEC by Chairman Lewis L Strauss Holifield was one of 11 members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy who wrote to President Eisenhower urging he reappoint Murray, a Democrat, when his term expires in June. Holifield said the joint committee believes "it is necessary that the commission have at least one man as a member who will maintain independence of thought and judgment so that the joint committee can be fully and currently informed of the program."

USIA: Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said the Senate should make certain that stiff House cuts in the U.S. Information Agency budget are justified before agreeing to them. Wiley, ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he wants to study the matter before making up his mind. But acting Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (D - Mont.) called for even deeper cuts to reduce USIA personnel and "tighten up efficiency."

Trotsky: Rep. Morgan M. Moulter (D-Mo:) said the House Committee on Un-American Affairs next week probably will question the widow of the late Communist revolutionist Leon Trotsky. Moulter, a committee member, said the widow of the late Soviet leader was brought into this country from Mexico at the request of committee Chairman Francis E Walter. Moulter said Mrs. Trotsky probably would be asked about her knowledge of Communist activities in the United States.

Steel Workers To Get Holiday Pay Tomorrow

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Steel workers will receive holiday pay for Good Friday under terms of contracts negotiated between the companies and the United Steelworkers union last summer.

Incorporation of the religious holiday in the USW agreements for the first time gave steel workers a seventh paid holiday The others are New Years Day, Memorial Day, July 4, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Steel workers who work on Good Friday will receive double time under terms of the agreement Eligible employes wo do not work will receive their straight average earnings, including incentives, for eight hours.

Current USW agreements provide that effective July 1 the holiday rate for workers on the job goes to double time and a tenth, and on July 1, 1958, becomes double time and a quarter.

Norman Suicide Case Explodes With Statement from Pearson

OTTAWA (UP) — The E. Herbert Norman suicide case exploded today with disclosure that the Canadian envoy to Cairo carried a Royal Canadian Mounted Police Communist tag in 1940, that it was removed 10 years later, and that a U.S. Senate committee learned the story through Canada's own security channels.

Norman, ambassador to Egypt and Lebanon, jumped to his death from a Cairo building late last month. Canadian officials blamed his death on despondency over a U S Senate subcomittee's recent resurrection of their old charge that he was a Communist

External Affairs Minister Lester B Pearson, whose handling of the Norman issue was sharply criticized by several newspapers, bared to public scrutiny for the first time Wednesday night the circumstances leading to Norman's suicide

Two Points Emphasized

Pearson answered charges and recitals of charges against Norman in a telegram to the editor of the Montreal Gazette. The statement was aimed directly at three days of columns by Ottawa correspondent Arthur Blakely which were largely an indictment of the government's alleged bungling of the Norman case.

The statement also answered the charges and comments against Norman by U.S. Senate subcommittee counsel Robert Morris.

The Gazette published the text of Pearson's statement on its editorial page without comment.

Pearson's statement emphasized two points:

—Although U.S. security agencies had had the information about Norman and apparently had "leaked" it to the Senate committee, the Canadian government refused to make the information public in Canada

—Pearson told the Commons on April 12, the last day of the session, that the Senate subcommittee's information on Norman did not come from any Canadian security source via a United States agency. But he admitted Wednesday night that Morris knew of the first report which labelled Norman a Communist.

Security Probe Held

Pearson said in his telegram that his decision to retain Norman's services after Norman underwent a security probe in 1950-51 was taken "only after a meticulous examination of the evidence available to the investigating authorities."

This information included Norman's "associations with Communists during his university days, as well as any possible associations subsequent to his membership" in the External Affairs Department

"On the basis of investigation," Pearson said, "I concluded that he had had as a student ideological beliefs which were close to some brand of Communism. I also concluded that he regretted these earlier associations and beliefs and had voluntarily abandoned them by the time he entered the Canadian foreign service."

Dealing with statements by Morris and Blakely concerning reports that Norman was a Communist, Pearson said:

"It is true that a report by an RCMP secret agent mentions Norman as a member of the Canadian Communist Party in 1940 and it is no doubt this report which was forwarded by the RCMP in October 1950 to appropriate agencies, to which Mr. Blakely and Mr. Morris refer.

"How this report became public I can only guess."

Packrall Blasts Election Board; Plans to Appeal

Mike Packrall of Centerville, still burning about the election board decision which invalidated his nomination papers for Washington county controller, blasted the board yesterday and also announced he would appeal the decision.

Packrall said his attorney, former congressman and state senator Anthony Cavalcante, Uniontown, would file objections "at the proper time."

Meanwhile, Packrall continued the argument he held briefly with the commissioners, chiefly W. J. Lane, at the hearing last Friday over the matter of holding two elective offices.

"When I asked Commissioner and State Senator Lane about two jobs, he said it was legal," Packrall said. "I'd like to ask him if it is legal to receive his salary as County Commissioner while serving as a State Senator in Harrisburg."

Packrall said he referred to the fact that Lane is necessarily absent from the county while attending sessions in the state capitol.

He said he thoughttit was also a fair question to ask County Controller Peter Elish who handles the county payroll if Elish thought it was legal for Lane to receive a commissioner's salary while serving in Harrisburg. Packrall also said he wanted an opportunity to direct the same question to Commissioners Francis E. Pettit and John Maza.

Packrall filed nomination papers as the "Non-Partisan" candidate for controller which, if valid, would have placed his name on the ballot in the November election. He, however, also filed nominating petitions for tax collector in Centerville Borough, and it was on this basis that the commissioners, as the election board, invalidated the nomination papers last Friday.

Advice of county solicitors was that the law clearly says that a candidate seeking a place on the ballot as a third-party candidate through nomination papers cannot run at the ensuing primary for any office.

In fairness to Commissioner and Senator Lane, though, Packrall may be beating an already pretty thoroughly whipped horse. "Two-jobs" has been an issue at every election in which Lane has been a candidate since he was elected to two jobs.

The striking thing about Packrall's attack at this time is that Lane is not a candidate at the coming primary election and his only overt connection with Packrall's troubles is that Lane served as a member of the election board which invalidated the Centerville man's papers on what appeared strictly a matter in which the election board had no choice.

The School District's Financial Tangle

THE FINANCES of the Monessen School District seem to have gotten into a complicated tangle. And if the public has difficulty understanding the situation, so apparently do some members of the School Board.

What has happened is that the district has been carrying a "floating" debt in the form of short-term bank loans ever since the completion of the new High School building more than five years ago.

That building wound up costing considerably more than the estimates on which the original bond issue of $789,000, approved by the voters, was based. The board took another guess in 1951 and borrowed $160,000 more on its own authority.

But it was still short of the eventual total cost of the building, which was about $1,069,000. And instead of floating still a third bond issue, it has been juggling this short-term obligation, which has varied in amount up to $120,000.

In addition to this there has been an accumulation of other capital expenditures, some of them unbudgeted, which the board has been trying to pay out of current revenues supplemented by further bank loans. The chief of these was a layout of $41,000 for a new lighting system at the Stadium, for which the district is supposed to be reimbursed eventually out of athletic gate receipts.

* * *

IF THIS all sounds rather complicated — it is. It is also somewhat unorthodox although the contention is made that the district could borrow money at lower rates through short-term loans secured by anticipated revenues.

But whether that is true or not, the string apparently has run out. The district's banker has said that the latest request for $40,000 could not be granted for the very adequate reason that anticipated revenues between now and the end of the current fiscal year on June 30 are not sufficient to support the loan.

So the board has decided to pay up and start the new fiscal year with a "clean slate", as Superintendent Pallone puts it.

When the directors add up the unfunded obligations and the current bills which there is no money to pay, the total comes to $275,000. And they have decided to float new bond issues for this amount and add it to the standing indebtedness, which would then reach $1,029,000, according to the latest available figures.

* * *

THE DECISION to discontinue short-term deficit financing seems to be the only one possible in the circumstances. It also is sound in principle, in our opinion, even though the concept of the "floating" debt seems to have been inspired by the idea of saving the taxpayers money. There is a great deal to be said, it seems to us, for keeping public financing as current and as simple as possible.

However, we are more convinced than ever that the management of the High School project was one of the most costly bungles in the history of local government in Monessen. Furthermore, such actions as the purchase of $41,000 worth of stadium lights outside the budget represents the poorest kind of financial responsibility.

Conducting the finances of a fairly large school district such as Monessen's is bound to be difficult in these days of rising costs and increasing demands. But the local School Board has obviously been adding complications of its own invention to the task.

Not One—Two

NOW THAT television has made brains popular again, it is interesting that this year, for the first time in its history, Monessen High School's graduating class will have, not one, but two valedictorians.

This comes about because two senior boys, William Lear and Paul Chuberka, finished their courses with straight-As throughout. And the faculty decided not to try to distinguish between two perfect records.

William and Paul have won a signal honor. To stand at the head of the class signifies not only brains but the kind of concentrated application that is one of the prime requisites of successful living in a complicated age.

Everybody seems amazed at the differences of opinion in the Eisenhower family about some political questions. And here we always thought that was normal—not unusual.

Merry-Go-Round—

Adams Tried To Block Sewage Fund

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In the current scramble to cut the budget, the House almost chopped off the annual $50,000,000 grant to American communities to keep waste and sewage out of their drinking water. Behind the close vote is an untold story of industrial lobbying and pressure direct from the White House.

Mr. Pearson

Opposition to the grant came from the powerful chemical, pulp and paper manufacturers which dump their factory waste into the nation's streams. Federal aid to clean up municipal pollution, they feared, would eventually focus attention on industrial pollution.

As a result, these firms launched a virtual let-them-drink-sewage campaign that reached all the way into the White House. No less than assistant president Sherman Adams pulled strings to kill the anti- sewage appropriation. Adams used to be manager of the Parker-Young Co., now the Franconia Paper Co., one of New England's important pulp and paper producers. He is also a life director of the Northeast Lumber Manufacturers Association, before which he spoke in Boston last week.

Adams worked through Republican leaders on Capitol Hill to line up a majority of Republicans against the $50,000,000 matching funds which the federal government would extend to cities to help them build sewage-disposal plants. It's interesting to note that during the 1956 campaign, Republican literature took credit for this $50,000,000-a-year program "to purify streams and other water sources which otherwise," they said, "might endanger the health of the public."

Texas Sabotage

Actually, the program was authored by Minnesota's Congressman John Blatnik, a Democrat, though many Republicans voted for it. Thanks to White House pressure, however, a large majority of Republicans went back on their campaign boast and voted in favor of continued sewage dumping in the nation's rivers.

The victorious amendment to kill the appropriation, however, was not introduced by Republicans but by two Texas Democrats — O. Clark Fisher of San Angelo and Omar Burleson of Anson. Ironically, their districts are collecting almost half of the federal money allotted to Texas right now to clean up drinking water.

In Burleson's district, the Sweetwater sewage system was so antiquated and overloaded that raw sewage seeped into a tributary of the Brazos River. This supplies drinking water for Abilene and Dyess Air Force Base. In Sweetwater, itself, the water is no longer sweet but contaminated by the town's own sewage.

However, this is now in the process of being remedied, thanks in part to funds voted for Texas by the federal government.

Water is so scarce in Fisher's district that his constituents want to irrigate with the discharge from the San Angelo sewage treatment plant.

Of the $1,700,000 allotted to Texas for sewage treatment this year, Burleson's district is receiving $500,000 and Fishtr's will get $266,200. However, their pollution problems are on the way to being solved by the program the two congressmen fought so hard to sabotage in Washington.

These two Texans, fronting for the GOP-Democratic "economy" coalition, succeeded in defeating sewage disposal on an unrecorded or teller vote. This is a vote whereby congressmen merely file past a teller, who records the number voting but does not record the names.

Later, Speaker Sam Rayburn who has been doing more to pass important items in the Eisenhower budget than any Republican, required a roll-call, or recorded vote. This time, Republicans did not want to vote for sewage — purely. Enough switched over to the Democrat-Eisenhower side to reinstate the $50,000,000.

Rubbish in the Mail

As a protest against the "rubbish" that comes in the mail, Congressman Glenn Cunningham (R., Neb.) brought a box full of typical "waste mail" to a meeting of the House Post Office Committee.

After the meeting, Congressman Bob Corbett (R., Pa.) started rummaging through the box.

"Hhmmm," he mumbled. "Lot of good stuff in here."

Then he nonchalantly pocketed some sample pills and walked off.

Washington Whirl

A stickler for promptness, Ike got annoyed with Mamie the other day for showing up a few minutes late to pose for photographers. When she arrived the President looked crossly at his watch and snapped "You're late!" . . . Some Senate wives, who attended Mamie's White House tea, got a little huffy when they were instructed: "Give your name to the aide." They misunderstood. They thought they had been ordered to "give your name and age."

The Devil's Advocate

From Washington—

Eisenhower and '58 Election

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

It is hard to see how the Eisenhower administration can reap any benefit at all from next year's congressional elections — regardless of which party wins!

The outlook just isn't good for the President. Here is what I mean:

Mr. Drummond

If the Republicans fail to regain at least the Senate, where they are now short only one seat for control — this prospect is very slim — it can hardly fail to impair the prestige of the administration and make it more difficult for Mr. Eisenhower to deal with Congress.

But if the Republican Party does regain control of the Senate, it will be because a substantial number of anti-Eisenhower Republican senators have been returned to office where they can continue to oppose Eisenhower policies with renewed strength.

The way this congressional election shapes up now, no matter who wins, it looks as though the President would lose.

Oppose Ike Now

Fully half of the Republican senatorial candidates, who will go before the voters next fall, are either anti-Eisenhower Republicans—McCarthy of Wisconsin, Goldwater of Arizona, Jenner of Indiana, Malone of Nevada — or on the basis of their voting record substantially opposed to what the President stands for — like Barrett of Wyoming, Bricker of Ohio, Hruska of Nebraska, Revercomb of West Virginia, Martin of Pennsylvania. (Senator Martin has announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection. — Ed.)

For the most part these Republican senators are not going to be running on the Rpublican national platform of 1956.

If very many of them lose, it will mean that the President's party will have lost Congress for the third consecutive election.

If very many of them win, it will mean that "Modern Republicanism" will be weaker then ever.

One thing is clear: Sen. Joseph McCarthy faces a formidable challenge for re-nomination in Wisconsin.

The apparently firm reports from Wisconsin are that former Republican Gov. Walter J. Kohler is ready to take the plunge and that this time there will be no drawing back.

Mr. Kohler has started down the one-way street that leads to a head-on collision between an extraordinarily popular former Governor and an extraordinarily aggressive personal campaigner, the twice elected incumbent Senator.

Good Record

Mr. Kohler would enter the race against Mr. McCarthy with a good competitive record — a record which on the surface would seem to give him an edge. Twice he has run simultaneously with Senator McCarthy and each time he fared much better with the Wisconsin voters. In 1948, for example, when both were seeking election as delegates to the Republican National Convention, Mr. Kohler received more votes than the Senator. Then, four years later in 1952, Mr. McCarthy received the lowest vote of any state-wide Republican candidate, 870,444, while in his contest for the governorship that year, Mr. Kohler received more than 1,000,000 votes.

But there are some who believe that Mr. Kohler has suffered a loss in popularity since he stepped back from opposing Senator McCarthy in 1952, and in 1954 the Democratic candidate for Governor, William Proxmire, came within 35,000 votes of defeating him.

McCarthy Uncertain

There is no sure way to gauge Mr. McCarthy's present voting strength in Wisconsin. He has lost influence in Washington, but it does not follow that he has lost strength in his home state. I suspect that President Eisenhower's scratching him from any invitations to the White House has won his sympathy at home. He would almost certainly get the formal backing of the state Republican organization. If Mr. Kohler dares to oppose him, Mr. McCarthy's friends say the Senator would "cut him to ribbons."

That's what remains to be seen. Certainly a Kohler-McCarthy campaign would be a meaningful primary choice between two different candidates for the Republican Senatorial nomination — Kohler, a middle-road pro-Eisenhower Republican, and McCarthy, an anti-Eisenhower Republican at nearly all points.

Behind The News—

Russia Tries Again to Woo West Germans

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia is likely to make a determined new attempt soon to loosen West Germany's ties with the allied powers.

The attempt may be timed to coincide with Russian - German trade negotiations, which are expected to start late this month.

Mr. McCann

In seeking a political agreement with West Germany at this time, the Russians would be able to take advantage of some new factors in the European situation.

One is the drastic new British defense program, which is based on a shift to reliance on nuclear weapons.

Adenauer Alarmed

This development, coupled with the possibility that the United States as well as Britain might withdraw from Germany some troops assigned to the North Atlantic Treaty forces, thoroughly alarmed German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Another factor is the controversy roused in Germany over Adenauer's insistence that the new West Germany Army must get tactical atomic weapons.

The atomic weapons issue is sure to figure largely in the campaign for the West Germany parliamentary election set for Sept. 15.

It has long been apparent that one of Russia's big objectives is to make some kind of deal with West Germany.

The biggest obstacle against such a deal is Russia's refusal to agree to the reunification of Germany.

Considerable interest has been roused in Western European capitals by two Russian reminders of the so-called Rapallo Treaty.

Reminder Published

This treaty, which constituted one of Russia's all-time Big diplomatic victories, was negotiated at Rapallo on April 16, 1922.

Twenty - nine European countries met at Genoa, Italy, on April 10, 1922. They included the victorious allied governments of World War I, most of the defeated countries including Germany, and Bolshevik Russia, which had left the war in 1917.

The chief aim of the conference was to restore relations with the Bolshevik regime.

Last week the Russian Embassy in Bonn, the West German capital, published a reminder of the Rapallo Treaty and suggested a revival of the Russian - German "Spirit of Rapallo" in establishing "good will."

Tuesday, the Russian government newspaper organ Izvestia published an editorial which said the anniversary of the Rapallo Treaty reminded many Germans, "Anxious over the future of their country's peace in Europe. . . how fruitful good relations between Germany and Russia can be."

Congress Resentful of Summerfield's Tactics

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)—"Summerfield has won a battle, but he'll lose the war, you can be sure of that."

This observation came from one of the shrewdest Democrats in the Senate after Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield had won his two - week battle with Congress for additional funds for postal operations this year.

Mr. Lahr

The remark was another way of saying Congress reacts with anger whenever it feels it is being asked to handle legislation with a gun suits head.

Denies Policy Trend

Congress caved in quickly and gave Summerfield his supplemental funds after he carried out a threat to cancel Saturday deliveries and other postal services. But the resentment will linger and could be reflected in the way the lawmakers handle other postal legislation this year.

Some suspicious minds in Congress wondered if Summerfield's action was part of a general administration policy to build a backfire to check House and Senate efforts to whittle a few billions off the budget.

And when he appeared before a House committee Tuesday, Summerfield was asked whether his action was an attempt to muster support for his long-stymied request for increases in postal rates. The question drew a quick, curt denial.

GOP Concerned

The postmaster general has been a crusading zealot for his recommendations over the past four years without persuading Congress to approve them.

Summerfield's attitude toward his own budget was causing some concern among Republicans in Congress even before the current row over his extra appropriation for this year. After the House made some cuts in his requested appropriation for next year, he warned he would have to curtail some services unless the Senate restored the money.

At one of the weekly White House legislative conferences a GOP congressional leader suggested Summerfield's approach was not the best way to do business with Congress.

President Eisenhower was reported to have chilled the discussion with a comment that his postmaster general was a dedicated public servant.

The Woman's View—

Fashion Lexicon

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Man in our office complains that woman-talk about clothes is incomprehensible jargon to men.

Most men flounder, he said, when the conversation goes beyond the price tag. In the interest of research, I gave him a list of fashion terms most likely to be heard around the house this week, with Easter shopping in full swing. Go on, said I. Define them.

Gay Pauley

Apparently man in office is right . . . so far as he is concerned. I give you his definitions:

Panel—Bennet Cerf. Dorothy Kilgallen, Arlene Francis, and J. Fred Muggs.

Peg-Top Skirt—Elvis Presley's sister.

The Chanel Influence—What Florence Chadwick suffers from.

Window Neckline—Short girl seen from outside the house.

Plunging Neckline—Dress dropped from top of the Empire State Building.

Sheath—Lisping chambermaid talking about a sheet.

Tunic—Cut received from tuna bite.

Fichu—Yes? Golf you? Or tennis you?

Elegant Understatement—"It was quite considerate of you to drop the mashed potatoes in my lap instead of the minestrone soup."

Cloche—Drunk's way of saying not far.

Pillbox—Well, I've seen a stocking run, ma'am, but never seen a pill box.

Box Jacket—No, I don't wish to engage in this sport either.

Accordion Pleats—What squeezes your stomach when you make music.

Scallop—Small ottoman - shaped shellfish.

Profile Hat—Bonnet used to cover area from eyebrows to chin; good idea for ugly women.

Chemise Top—Boy's toy made of cloth.

Flounce—Abbreviation for 1-16 of a full quart (sometimes abbreviated, flqurt).

Barrel Coat—Something worn by a woman not yet going to Slenderella

Cocktail Dress—Outfit with pockets for olives, pearl onions and lemon peel.

Yoke—Oh come now, that's too easy!

It's a Fact—

In the United States, half dollars last the longest of the coins, while dimes wear out the quickest. Most coins have a life of about 30 years. Paper money isn't usable after about one year.

Kichinko Talks with Henrich

Our sidekick, Lou Kichinko, had a special reason for arriving early at Forbes Field for the opener earlier in the week. He wanted to say hello to an old buddy, Tommy Henrich, the long-time New York Yankee star who is now a coach with the Giants. Henrich started his professional baseball career in Monessen and has lots of friends here. "Tell my pal Dan DeRocco at the bus terminal to get a spaghetti dinner ready the next time the Giants come to Pittsburgh," Henrich kidded. "And give my best to everyone in Monessen. It's always pleasant to return there and talk over the good old days when I was making $80 a month and happy about it."

Schoolboy Baseball Hard to Figure

Scholastic baseball really drives the schedule-makers crazy. Take the Donora-at-Monessen game earlier in the week for example. At 2:30, school officials here decided to postpone the game because of a steady rain. They telephoned Donora, but somehow the message never got to Dragon coach Jay Giddick. He thought it was strange the game was not called off but he brought his boys here anyway. Arriving, Giddick found Ninth Street Park empty. He phoned MHS Athletic Director Everett Pancook and suggested that maybe the game could be played after all. So Pancook hurriedly called the high school to have the players dismissed early. At 4:10, the "postponed" game started as originally scheduled . . . Just for the record, Monessen lost, 11-4.

Managers Licenses Restored

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)— A judge has restored the licenses of two Philadelphia boxing managers although holding that the new law under which they were punished was constitutional.

The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, acting under the state's new athletic code, had revoked the licenses of Carmel Graziano and Anthony Ferrante, co-managers of Joey Giardello and other boxers.

The commission charged that they associated with "individuals with criminal records and of ill repute," adding that they relied on Anthony Caponigro, alias Tony Banas, for "advice with respect to the management of fighters."

Judge Walter R. Sohn of Dauphin County court ruled Wednesday that the commission failed to produce evidence to back up its series of charges against Grazia and Ferrante.

Clean Record

Sohn said Caponigro's only police record was a $10 fine in 1945 for disorderly conduct and testimony disclosed that since then he had a clean record and had been associated with respectable business enterprises.

Graziano and Ferrante, in appealing the revocations, also challenged the leagliy of the 1955 athletic code as "an unauthorized delegation of legislative power" to the commission.

But Sohn ruled that "the words of the statute under attack derived precision from the sense and experience of men . . . that under the provision of the code decisions were not left to arbitrary judgment."

Other Charge

The commission also had charged that Graziano was a co-promoter of the Plaza Athletic Club in Philadelphia for one year, ending in November, 1954, without first having taken out a promoter's license and while also a co-manager of boxers.

But Sohn said that this was done with the knowledge of the commission when Graziano applied for and received his 1955 manager's license. He said the commission may not legally revoke his license on that account.

Miami Opens With 3 to 3 Tie

By UNITED PRESS

Baseball - starved Miami fans got an extra ratio of the sport in one of the International League's most unusual opening games — a 3-3, 16-inning tie Wednesday night between the Marlins and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

In the only other action Wednesday night, the Richmond Virginians blanked Rochester, 7-0, in their opener at Richmond.

At Miami, Toronto scored twice in the third inning but the Marlins pecked away at Leaf starter Don Johnson for single tallies in the fifth and ninth. Both teams scored in the 14th to bring the final tally to 3-3.

The scheduled games between Buffalo - Columbus and Montreal-Havana were postponed by rain.

Quiet Man McDougald Keeps Yanks Moving

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The quiet man was making loud noises again today for the New York Yankees.

That would be Gil McDougald, the gawky, freckled red-head who accomplished the impossible by cramming his big feet into the winged cleats left vacant by Phil Rizzuto. The same McDougald who never seems to get his fair share of consideration when the laurels are distributed.

Yet, while he is underrated in public consideration, the lanky Scot privately is considered by baseball men to be one of the major cogs in the Yankee juggernaut.

Set Up Victory

In the season's opener the Yankees became involved in a dilly with the Washington Senators. The game was all tied up in the ninth when, with one on and one out, McDougald doubled to set up the Yankee victory.

McDougald has been doing that kind of thing for the Yankees without a great deal of fanfare ever since he came up to the club in 1951. You are inclined to forget it, but he came out of nowhere to be the rookie of the year while doubling in brass between second and third.

Two years later he led the league's third basemen in fielding and two years after that, as a token of his versatility, he paced the league's second basemen in fielding. Then, playing it by ear, he took over for the finished Rizzuto last May.

Mite Among Giants

It was a tremendous spot, because the undersized "Scooter" was a legend with the burly Yankees. A mighty mite among giants, despite his lack of stature he still was regarded as the cement of the infield.

But McDougald took over and kept the Yankee machine from missing a beat. Still he didn't get the recognition from the fans. Yet you might have noticed that the Yankees appreciated his work so much that they gave him a $7,000 raise to $29,000 this year.

"I had a good spring," he said quietly as he prepared for the opening of the season. "I feel great and what more can I say?"

Then, as usual, he proceeded to do his talking in the field and at the plate. A real pro, McDougald.

Ted Kluszewski's Back Is Aching

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Ted Kluszewski's aching back had the Cincinnati Redlegs hurting all over today as they sought their first victory of the new National League season against the Milwaukee Braves.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts revealed Wednesday that the slugging first - baseman experienced sharp pain during Tuesday's opener in Cincinnati and that it is "on a day-to-day" basis whether he can play.

"I'm leaving it up to him as to when he thinks he can do a good job for the club," Tebbetts said. "It depends on how he comes along. We had a talk and that's what we decided."

Weather Will Wash Out Schoolboy Nines Again

All Section 17 Games Today Expected to Be Postponed

It looked like the same old story on the scholastic baseball front again today.

Rain will probably wipe out the entire schedule. Charleroi is to appear at Monessen, Bellmar at Monongahela and California at Donora.

There isn't much chance that any of those games will be played. Yesterday the Bellmar-at-Monongahela tussle was wiped out.

Not Far Behind

Oddly enough, the teams aren't too far behind on their schedules despite the miserable weather. All but Charleroi and California are up-to-date with the exception of today's anticipated wash-outs.

It hasn't been easy though to stay on top the schedule. Monessen, for example, played one game in a continual drizzle and another in temperatures which barely topped the freezing mark.

Although the season is still young, things have worked out just as everyone predicted. Charleroi is atop the standings and Monongahela a half game behind.

Close Race

Those two teams are expected to battle right down to the final game.

The Cougars have been most impressive in two league outings. They have a great hurler in senior Carl Witmyer, who rates as one of the finest moundsman in the WPIAL this season.

Stan's Endurance Streak May Be Ended Tonight

Stan Musial, the Donora Dandy who has played 775 straight games, may have to miss tonight's tussle with the Chicago Cubs.

Musial, who is just 47 games away from the National League endurance record, suffered a back injury in the opener on Tuesday. In that game, Musial collected four hits in as many trips to the plate.

The 36 year old Musial is near the all-time endurance mark of former Pirate first baseman Gus Suhr, who played 822 games without missing a date.

Cardinal trainer Bob Bauman doubted that Musial will be able to play tonight. He said Stan would have definitely missed yesterday's game, which was rained out.

The muscle injury is not believed to be serious unless Stan aggravates it.

Webb Decisions Randy Sandy in Close Contest

CHICAGO (UP) — Spider Webb didn't fight "smart," he said today, but even one of his poorer performances earned him a win over rugged Randy Sandy Wednesday night for his 20th straight middleweight triumph.

"I guess I was just trying to get in that big one all the time," Webb said, "and he was smothering the punches. I never got it in. It wasn't a smart fight for me. I should have boxed him instead."

The victory, though, insured Webb's retention of a third place ranking among the world 160 pounders and left him in line for a title shot sometime in the near future. The second ranking contender, Sugar Ray Robinson, gets another chance at the title May 1, leaving only the top contender, Charles Humez of France, ahead of Webb.

Sandy was warned about low blows by referee Bernie Weismann in the fourth round, but the round was not taken away from him. Webb held a three - round weight advantage at 160 to 157 pounds.

Hogan Enters 'Quality' Field

NEW YORK (UP) — The addition of Ben Hogan today completed the field for the unique 16-man Palm Beach golf tournament at the Wykagyl C.C., New Rochelle, N.Y., May 29-June 2.

Hogan won the round - robin tourney in 1940 and 1946, but has not been seen recently in this area under his program of limited competition in major tournaments.

Others in the field are Gene Littler, Doug Ford, Peter Thomson, Sam Snead, Cary Middlecoff, Jackie Burke, Ken Venturi, Tommy Bolt, Fred Hawkins, Ed Furgol, Mike Souchak, Billy Casper Jr., Mike Fetchick, Dow Finsterwald and Dick Mayer, with Jay Hebert as an alternate.

Fullmer Resumes His Ring Workouts

CHICAGO (UP) — Middleweight king Gene Fullmer was scheduled to resume sparring today at his training camp and will drill daily until April 27 for his May 1 title defense against Ray Robinson.

Fullmer took two days off from sparring Tuesday and Wednesday in order not to lose his edge.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Rhythm In Swing

The basic idea of the golf swing is to achieve timing, rhythm, tempo, and smooth power. The hands should be swung back together into the position from which they can deliver their hardest possible controlled hit. As the backswing progresses, the rhythm, or timing, of the swing is being built up. Timing is nothing more than a gradual acceleration of clubhead speed that reaches its maximum as the ball is met.

I begin to think in terms of setting up the proper swing rhythm from the moment I start taking my stance for the shot. The preliminary motions, or waggle, should contribute to this rhythm swing pattern.

Then comes the slight forward movement called the "forward press" which initiates the swing action. It is made so that the actual backswing, thinking of it in terms of the original address position, gets a fluid, or running start.

For a beginner, these ideas may be a little hard to soak up at first. But I recommend them to all golfers regardless of ability, because they are basic toward acquiring a sound golf swing.

Lazor Drafted by Detroit Pistons

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Bob Lazor, University of Pittsburgh, who was selected by the Detroit Pistons in the National Basketball Association draft at St. Louis Wednesday, is recuperating in West Penn Hospital following a knee operation.

Lazor, celebrating his 22nd birthday anniversary today, said the selection is "the nicest present I could be given." He said his selection was unexpected and "I only hope I can take advantage of it."

Kansas City Is Atop Standings!

By UNITED PRESS

Those ex-Yankees masquerading as the Kansas City Athletics occupy first place in the American League today — and they've done their old teammates a big favor, to boot, by getting the Detroit Tigers off to a poor start.

The Athletics made it two in a row over the Tigers, 5-4, in the only major league game played Wednesday and for the second straight day an ex-Yankee did the honors. Tom Morgan stopped the Tigers on four hits in Tuesday's opener and ex-Yank farmhand Wally Burnette turned in 5 1-3 scoreless relief innings Wednesday to pick up the victory.

Bob Cerv, still another ex-Yankee, started the Athletics' winning fourth inning rally when he blasted a triple and he scored the game's decisive run on Joe DeMaestri's single. Burnette, who took over the mound in the top of the fourth when the Tigers tied the score at 4-4, went the rest of the way allowing only two hits.

Boone Doubles

Ray Boone doubled home three runs for the Tigers in the first inning and scored their fourth run on Duke Maas' single in the fourth while Hector Lopez and Harry Simpson homered for the Athletics.

Rain washed out the other two scheduled games — St. Louis at Cincinnati and New York at Pittsburgh — but there'll be more "opening day fanfare" today at the seven "secondary openers." These find New York at Boston, Kansas City at Chicago, Cleveland at Detroit and Baltimore at Washington (night) in the AL and Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, Philadelphia at New York, Cincinnati at Milwaukee and Chicago at St Louis (night) in the NL.

Erath Resigns As PGA Prexy

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Paul Erath, pro at Fox Chapel Golf Club, has resigned as president of the Tri-State Professional Golfers Assn., it was disclosed Wednesday.

Erath, who was elected to a three-year term last September, gave pressure of duties at his club as a reason for the resignation.

The Tri-State group will vote for a new president next September.

The awards were presented by Stephen Pfeister, chairman of the Recreation Board.

Accepting the trophies were these team captains:

Special Games

In special games last night, Vocational Bulldogs whipped the Linden Fidgets, 15-13, while the Black Hawks beat the Pioneers, 29-20.

Recreation Director George Nicksich arranged the program along with special events director Frederic Feldman.

Trophies were also presented to the baseball Prep League champions for 1956.

Joe Leone and Bob Cina assisted other Recreation Department officials during the night.

The event concluded the indoor season at the Civic Center. Plans are now being made for the outdoor summer program.

Cleveland Loses Pan American Games for 1958

DETROIT (UP) — The city of Cleveland was without hope today of bringing the long-sought Pan-American Games home to its thousands of track and field fans.

Pan-American Games committee president Douglas Roby has formally awarded the Olympic event to Guatemala City, Guatemala, following a decision Wednesday by Cleveland Mayor Anthony Celebreeze to vacate the city's bid for the games.

Roby said he received a telegram from Celebreeze which said that Cleveland had been unable to obtain congressional approval of a five million dollar appropriation to help the city build stadium facilities to stage the event. According to Roby, Celebreeze said that Cleveland would have to give up its plans, but stood ready to welcome the games should Congress reverse itself on the no-money decision.

Cleveland successfully bid for the event following the 1955 Pan-American Games held at Mexico City. But Roby wired the Guatemala Olympic Committee Wednesday to award the games to that country. Roby said the event probably would be held in Guatemala City sometime in February, 1958.

Surprise Choices In NBA Pro Baseball Draft

ST. LOUIS (UP)—A surprising draft gave hint of further trading today as the player representatives of the National Basketball Association met with owners to try to win recognition of their grievances.

A snappy draft session Wednesday saw Hot Rod Hundley of West Virginia become the first choice of the college crop and immediately dealed away in a seven-player trade, one of the largest in league history.

Cincinnati had been expected to draft Charley Tyra of Louisville, but instead grabbed Hundley as the result of a deal it made with Minneapolis just five minutes before.

Hundley went to the Lakers in exchange for veteran Kansas star Clyde Lovellette and Dayton rookie Jim Paxson.

Give Up Players

Cincinnati also gave up Bob Burrow, Art Spoelstra, Ed Fleming and Don Meinecke.

The New York Knickerbockers, who earlier had traded the Detroit Pistons out of their second choice, grabbed Tyra and then announced from his home in Louisville that he wasn't sure he wanted to play for the Knicks.

Minneapolis, in its regular third choice, drafted 6-8 Jim Krebs of Southern Methodist. The St. Louis Hawks, took Win Wilfong of Memphis State.

The player representatives, headed by Boston's Bob Cousy, discussed a 19-point petition with the owners today. It included the establishment of a three-man arbitration board to settle player grievances.

Other Choices

To complete the first round of the draft, the Philadelphia Warriors took Lennie Rosenbluth of North Carolina, New York got Brendan McCann of St. Bonaventure, Syracuse chose George Bonsalle of Illinois and Boston drafted Sam Jones of North Carolina College.

In another trade the Warriors sold their draft rights to Steve Hamilton of Morehead, Ky., and Jerry Calvert of Kent to the Hawks for an undisclosed amount of cash.

St. Vincent took St Francis, Notre Dame blanked Georgetown and Duquesne swept over Fordham.

Scoring leaders were Anthony DiGioia, 191-454; Ray Simon, 148-402, Aldof D'Amore, 167-447; Joe Gallo, 138-382; Jim Zimmaro, 135-403 and Ralph Greco, 163-431.

Standings show Notre Dame, 32-10; St Vincent, 26-16; Duquesne, 22-20; St Francis, 19-23; Georgetown, 17-25; and Fordham, 8-34.

Top Averages in Center's League

Bernie Diethorne, secretary of the Center Bowling League, today released the top 12 averages for the season.

Pirates Send Arroyo Against Dodgers in Series Opener Today

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (UP) — Pittsburgh Pirates manager Bobby Bragan, disregarding the Brooklyn Dodgers' love of lefthanded pitching sends Luis Arroyo to the mound today in the opener of a four-game series at Ebbets Field.

A southpaw against the Dodgers is considered almost an act of last resort, but Bragan felt that Arroyo, who showed well in spring training, should pitch in rotation regardless of the percentages.

Opposing the Pirate lefty will be Sal Maglie, who posted 13-5 for the Dodgers last season and helped considerably in bringing the pennant to Brooklyn.

Friend Again Saturday

Arroyo, who had a 3-3 chart last season during his short stay with the Pirates, will be trying to accomplish something no Pirate lefty has achieved since Sept. 17, 1952 — win over Brooklyn in Ebbets Field.

Bragan's pitching rotation calls for Bob Friend to oppose the Dodgers Saturday and Vern Law and Ronnie Kline in a Sunday doubleheader.

The Pirates were rained out of their scheduled game with the Giants in Pittsburgh Wednesday. The postponed game will be played at Forbes Field the night of June 3.

Following the Dodger series, the Bucs go to the Polo Grounds for two games next week and then to Philadelphia for one game.

The Pirates will play the Dodgers seven times in the next 10 games.

Robin Gives Advice

Friend, who won the Pirates' season opener against the Giants, revealed Wednesday his pitching arm "locked" while he was dressing following last Saturday night's national television salute to baseball in New York.

Friend said the incident "scared him" but he was advised by Robin Roberts of the Phillies to take a 20-minute warmup before pitching the next time out.

"That's why I worked one inning at Charleston (W. Va.) on Sunday, and it turned out just like Roberts said," Friend said.

Hursh, Pegues Pitt Co-Captains

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Chuck Hursh, Irwin, Pa., and Julius Pegues, Tulsa, Okla., have been selected co-captains of the University of Pittsburgh basketball team for the 1957-58 season, Coach Bob Timmons announced today.

Diethornes Reign As Parlors Champ

Diethornes reigned today as champions of the Grand Parlors Bowling League.

They won that honor last night by beating the Florists in a best-of-five rolloff.

Bob McKeever had a 273 single and averaged 190 for the winners. Charles Vlasic paced the losers with a 206 single and a 178 average.

The Diethornes, who won the first half race, took their foes by coming out on top in the second, fourth and fifth games.

Members of the championship team were Bernie Diethorne, Captain; Nick Cullen, Julio Contine, Eugene Jones, Ed Kroskie, Hank Lombardo, Bob McKeever, Len Pushkar, Charles Reardon, James Salay and Fran Warzinski.

Ross Figures Sugar Can Win

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—Sugar Ray Robinson must knock out Gene Fullmer in the first three rounds to regain the middleweight championship, but he is perfectly capable of doing that, in the opinion of former welterweight and lightweight champ Barney Ross.

"From my own experience I know that Robinson will have to score a knockout quickly in order to beat Fullmer, who is stronger than he is," said Ross after watching Robinson working Wednesday. "Off what I have seen, Ray is sharp enough to do it."

Robinson now has sparred 54 rounds in training for the May 1 bout in Chicago.

Sporstmen's Corner—

Don't Confuse Crow For Protected Raven

Pennsylvania hunters should be especially careful not to confuse the raven for the crow.

Like the crow, the raven is black although much larger in size. It has a heavier beak and a more raucous call than the distinctive "caw" of the crow.

Conservation-wise, there is a far more important difference. In Pennsylvania, the raven is protected because it is a useful scavenger, killing a great number of rodents and injurious insects.

In contrast the crow is unprotected because of its habit of raiding grain fields and destroying small game species and their nests.

Used at Decoys

Hunters often take the young crows from their nests in spring. Later the captive birds are used as decoys to lure other crows within shotgun range. Persons should be careful to obtain their birds from crow nests, which are of twig-and-mud construction and found in trees.

The raven builds a similar-looking nest of small branches and three or four times the size of that of the crow, lining it with fine plant material. Rocky ledges are usually used as nesting sites, however tall trees may also be selected.

The raven has a number of distinctions. Among others, it is mentioned several times in the Bible, and every school child is familiar with Edgar Allen Poe's poem on the bird.

'Paradise' Okay—

There will be no harmful effects to Fisherman's Paradise on Spring Creek, near Bellefonte, as a result of pollution early last November out of the Naval Ordnance Research Laboratory at Penn State.

At least that's the opinion of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

A spokesman pointed out that even though the fish kill was heavy in the stream above the Paradise and in two ponds of the Commission's hatchery plants fed by Spring Creek, the cyanide constituting the pollution was sufficiently diffused by the time it reached the Paradise to inflict no lasting effects on the many and big trout for which it is noted.

The season at Fisherman's Paradise will open on May 17 and run through July 20.

Turkey Feeders—

"Feeders erected to help wild turkeys through severe winter months undoubtedly provide food for many kinds of wildlife," says Game Protector William E. Fulmer, Carbon County.

"Among these birds and animals are: deer, rabbits, squirrels, snowshoe hares, raccoons, opossums, and skunks. The last-named dig among the corn cobs beneath feeders for insect life.

"Also, there are grouse, ringnecked pheasants occasionally, mourning doves and various types of song and insectivorous birds. Several ducks have made a path from a creek, about 100 feet distant from one feeder."

Escape Story—

A deputy reported this to Monroe County Game Protector, John Doebling:

While he was stocking pheasants near Effort, late in March, a Cooper's hawk flew out of the woods. It hit a liberated hen ringneck while it was flying. The pheasant fell to the ground, then ran to the woods with the hawk in pursuit. The pheasant found cover and disappeared in a border cutting at the edge of the trees. After waiting a few minutes the hawk gave up and flew away.

Cost Study Is Prepared on State Shortway

HARRISBURG (UP)—A state Highways Department spokeman said today a cost study was being prepared at the request of the U S. Bureau of Public Roads on a possible alternate route for the proposed Keystone Shortway.

Deputy Secretary George J. Richards said the study for a route from Sharon to Port Jervis N Y. instead of the original 21-mile Sharon to Stroudsburg route may be ready for submission within a week or 10 days.

The administration of Gov George M Leader asked the federal bureau eight months ago to have the shortway project put on the interstate system, with the route running from Sharon to Stroudsburg

Highways Secretary Joseph J Lawler charged recently that "pressure, politics and propaganda" were delaying federal approval of the project

Last March 4 the Bureau of Public Roads requested that additional traffic and cost estimates be submitted to it on a modified route from Sharon to Port Jervis

ALPINE ENVOY — President Eisenhower's nomination of commentator Henry J. Taylor (above) as ambassador to Switzerland repays an old Republican debt, one might say. Sabotage Blamed in British Air Crash

LONDON (UP)—A Royal Air Force source today blamed sabotage as the "most likely cause" for the crash of a British transport plane at Aqaba, Jordan, with the loss of 25 lives Wednesday.

The 25 — 22 soldiers enroute home for Easter and a crew of three — were killed when the Valletta transport crashed 10 minutes after taking off.

Coal Production Gain Is Forecast

PITTSBURGH (UP)—George H Love, chairman of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., says coal production this year probably will match 1956's output of 500 million tons.

Love, speaking at the annual stockholders meeting here Wednesday, said Pitt-Consol had increased its net income in the first three months of 1957 and the gain is expected to "carry into the balance of the year" with a slight increase in tonnage.

He said first quarter net income for 1957 was $6,291,452, or 68 cents per share, compared with $5,151,225, or 58 cents per share for the same period last year. The figures include Pocahontas Fuel Co., a subsidiary.

The coal industry needs more large companies if future development of properties is to be economical, Love said. He said new coal mines cost from 10 million dollars to 20 milion and can be afforded only by major firms.

Love said Pitt-Consol is opening three new mines which are "costing more than expected." On the basis of costs, he said, "present prices" fail to give "adequate returns."

The board chairman also explained some of the difficulties in getting the firm's Ohio coal pipe line into operation. The line runs 105 miles from Cadiz to Eastlake, Ohio.

Love blamed a block in the line on efforts to find the correct coal sizes and pressures which could be used most economically.

"The larger the coal size, the lesser the cost," he said.

Love said the cost includes a minimum grinding requirement and drying the fuel at the delivery end. He expressed confidence the line will be successful although more funds may have to be expended for additional facilities.

A. R. Matthews, president said the Pocahantas Fuel Co. expects to transport 1,300,000 tons of coal this year to Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Doolittle's Boys Hold Reunion

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (UP) — Gen. James Doolittle's famed Tokyo raiders whooped it up here today in the 15th anniversary of their historic bombing attack on the Japanese mainland.

Some 60 of the original 80 raiders arrived for a four-day reunion of fun and back-slapping with old comrades.

It was here, shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor, that the airmen first assembled for three months of preparation for the first bombing mission against Japan.

They made the "impossible" flight in 24 medium bombers from an aircraft carrier, the Hornet, off the Japanese coast.

Today marked the first time that the raiders had met since 1942.

Hits Hospital Report

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee charged today the Welfare Department gave 16,000 to a group of university professors to 'tell the Legislature how to spend 18 million dollars more than it is now spending for free hospital and medical care"

Rep Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) said "it is the closest thing I have seen yet in any government-financed study to a recommendation for socialized medicine"

"It is about time that we start spending some money to tell us how we can cut down the cost of government instead of increasing it" Wood said

Wood said the $16 000 contract was made with the University of Pennsylvania He said the professors' committee making the report included Dr James Charlesworth, former administration secretary under Gov George M Leader

"What the report proposes in effect is that the state start purchasing hospital care both for the needy and 'the medically needy' at an estimated cost of nearly nine million dollars a year more than it is now spending on medical care for persons onpu blic assistance, state grants to voluntary hospitals and the cost of operating state owned medical and surgical hospitals," Wood charged

While the report does not make an outright recommendation that the state should also pay the doctors for the care they give the 'medically needy,' it hints that this should also get consideration," he said

Wood said the report "represented the thinking of sociologists and other welfare theorists" rather than persons with practical experience He contended it was 'just another proposal from textbook theorists to weaken home rule and local responsibility"

The committee also recommended transfer of the 10 state-owned medical and surgical hospitals to community control with the Commonwealth to provide some subsidies during the transition period

Experts estimate that two billion people in the world are hungry every day, all day. The undernourished are figured at more than 75 per cent of the human race.

Meaning of Easter—

Man's Fears Are Caused by Mistrust of His Neighbors

(This is the fourth and final article of a series by leading Protestant and Catholic theologians on the meaning of Easter.

(Author of today's dispatch is professor of historical theology at the Yale University Divinity School, New Haven, Conn.)

By DR. ROBERT L. CALHOUN

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — The return of Good Friday and Easter this year finds the world once more groping its way along the edge of the valley of death.

Not that this is new or strange. Men have always lived within arm's length of the grave. But it seems new, because for a hundred and fifty years, except when major war was going on, we felt increasingly safe behind a growing technological screen against death.

Now we are not sure whether our newest machines are more to be trusted or dreaded. And, we have the uneasy feeling that we may never be sure about them again.

Mistrust Our Anxiety

One thing is sure. This anxiety of ours is not to be quieted by acquiring more factual knowledge, better tools, bigger social and political organizations. The real tap-root of our anxiety is mistrust of our neighbors, and of ourselves. We men are the main reason the world is once again so frightening.

Partly our ignorance and weakness, partly our aggressions, cruelties, deceits, and evasions, partly our corroding and unnerving fears themselves keep the machines from being trusted servants and make them too often giant foes. These human weaknesses and corruptions, moreover, are beyond our power to eradicate or even to control. They are built into the massive structures of society and history, until whole nations—all nations—as well as individual persons and groups are sick with their poisons.

Our science and technology, our national and international organization are new. But our fundamental human plight—our bondage to our own weaknesses and faults, terribly magnified in fast-growing world society—is very old and very tough. The Roman world in the First Century was in decline, and the world clouded with darkening fears.

God Enters Plight

It was to that world that the first Christian preachers cried out their new message of challenge and of hope: That in the obscure province of Galilee, and on a gallows outside Jerusalem, God himself had entered decisively into the human plight, broken the power of death, and turned the cross itself into a promise of life—for all who would bear each his own cross in faith and love.

That unlikely story, that gospel, evangel, "good news of God," struck root in the pagan world and grew in defiance of all worldly expectation. It has continued through nineteen centuries, vital and irrepressible, through the rise and fall of empires, cultures, and civilizations, through times of strength and times of woeful weakness among its own preachers and servants. That gospel, of God's doing and not primarily of man's, is now more than ever the needed word to a world in bondage to fear and death: The word of life and unconquerable hope.

FASTER UNDERSEA — Britain's high speed experimental sub Explorer cuts through waves off coast of England. It is the first of two such subs using a high test peroxide system of propulsion, making it possible for main propelling machinery to run full power undersea.

Replica of Hall To Be Started

MOOSEHEART, Ill. (UP) — Construction of a replica of Philadelphia's Independence Hall has been scheduled to start here this spring.

Walter Ketz, superintendent announced Tuesday that the 200,000 structure will be financed by 200 lodges and 166 auxiliary lodges of the Loyal Order of the Moose in Pennsylvania. He said the building will be used as a boys' dormitory and to display historical events.

Mooseheart was founded by the Loyal Order of the Moose as a community refuge for orphans of its members.

Mother, Two Kids Stabbed; House Blasted

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (UP)—Autopsies showed today that a mother and her two children had been stabbed before a mysterious "upstairs" explosion reduced their two-story frame home to rubble and critically injured the father.

The father, Woodrow Matthews, 42, who suffered severe burns in the early-morning blast Wednesday, also had stab wounds which police said may have been self-inflicted.

Dist. Atty. Louis M. Greenblott expressed the belief that the explosion was set off intentionally, but he deferred questioning of Matthews because of the seriousness of his condition.

The dead were identified as Matthews' wife, Ella, 40; their son, Carl, 10, and their daughter, Alma, 14.

"It's all very puzzling," said Coroner Vincent Maddi.

Reds to Hear All About America

By CLAIRE COX

MUNICH, Germany (UP)—The Sears Roebuck catalogue and Tin Pan Alley are the West's newest cold war weapons.

Dollars and cents prices and love song rhymes such as June, moon and spoon are about to be fired electronically at the captive countries by Radio Free Europe.

RFE is going to throw the mail-order book at the Communists—all 1,200 pages of it—by showing that free workers in America get a lot more for their money than their captive counterparts behind the Iron Curtain.

The radio station hopes to use the lyrics of popular romantic songs to teach English to satellite citizens. The listeners will be taught the West's language of love to counteract the words of hate beamed from Moscow.

RFE occupies a sprawling, three-story building that takes up a Munich city block. It beams programs over five stations—directed at Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria—20 hours a day. The broadcasting network is supported from the 10 million dollars raised each year by the Crusade for Freedom through voluntary contributions in the U.S.

Station officials learned as a result of the Hungarian rebellion that the satellite citizens want to know as much as possible about America.

The Eastern European captives want to know what an American worker carries in his lunch box and his wallet. They want to know about Social Security, the Blue Cross and unemployment insurance, about strikes and layoffs, as well as increased purchasing power. They want to know what Americans read and eat and where they spend their vacations.

RFE obliges with "all-request" programs answering all these questions. It also gives housewives recipes for dishes that can be made with austerity ingredients and the latest medical advice from the West.

Most of all, according to information reaching here in letters and messages, the satellite audience wants to know about American products and to learn the language.

Chrysler Plant Is Idled by Walkout

DETROIT (UP) — A walkout Wednesday at the Chrysler Kercheval plant halted car production and idled 8,400 workers.

Chrysler sent home 60 men who normally handle material shipped to a strikebound Los Angeles plant. Another 240 workers in the material handling department walked out in protest and the company then sent home the remaining 8,100 hourly workers at the plant.

Easter Eggs Symbolize New Life and Friendship

For many a year the egg has been associated with Easter. It is considered the symbol of new life which, by the tenets of the Christian religion, was initiated symbolically on the joyous Easter day.

Edith Barber

The exchange of Easter eggs is an evidence of friendship and good will. The custom of coloring the eggs and sometimes decorating them is modern. Before bright - colored vegetable dyes were available, the eggs were sometimes boiled with onion skins to make them yellow, the typical Easter color.

In spite of the elaborate candy eggs and chocolate bunnies supplied by every confectionery store today, many families follow the old custom of coloring eggs for Easter breakfast and for the children to exchange. Some of these are easily hidden, supposedly by the Easter bunny, and there is great rivalry as to which child will find the most.

While the children enjoy shelling hard-cooked eggs and eating them for breakfast, the rest of the family will probably prefer soft-boiled eggs for this meal. Any remaining hard-cooked eggs if the children can be persuaded to give them up, should be used — as soon as possible perhaps in a salad or casserole.

EGGS DIVAN

1 box frozen broccoli
6 hard-cooked eggs
1 ½ ounce can deviled ham
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 to 2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cook broccoli as package directs and drain. Shell eggs and halve. Remove egg yolks and mash with remaining ingredients. Blend well and use mixture to fill egg halves. Arrange broccoli in baking dish. Place eggs on this and cover with sauce. Bake 35 minutes in moderately hot oven 400 degrees F.

DIVAN SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup milk
¾ cup grated sharp American cheese

In saucepan melt butter stir in flour, salt pepper, then milk. Cook until thickened. Add cheese; stir until smooth.

Canned Apples Prolong the Pie Season

Among the always popular fruit desserts those with the longest history are prepared with apples, one of the first fruits to be grown successfully in generous quantities.

People are fond of old-fashioned pies and puddings. But in this day and age, to save labor, and because the supply of fresh apples may dwindle in the spring, often turn to canned apple slices or sauce. This is a common practice in restaurants, and home cooks are often following suit.

The time of baking may be somewhat reduced in certain recipes unless these have been originated particularly for the canned products. The Processed Apple Institute is now offering a booklet of recipes furnished by famous eating places but reduced to family size.

If one has visited various cities and towns throughout the United States, they will have enjoyed dishes that have become the specialties at well-known restaurants, a list of which will be compiled before starting on a motor trip. The two recipes printed today are examples of the interesting material to be found in the above-mentioned booklet.

Casseroles Used More Than Other Utensils

What's the difference between a casserole and a baking dish? Of course there is none at all. Our grandmothers were probably unfamiliar with the term "casserole," of French origin.

Of course they made do with two or three baking dishes of different sizes. It was a major catastrophe when one of these treasured pottery dishes was broken.

Today most people have a far larger number of heatproof glass baking dishes. Originally these were all clear transparent glass. Later they were offered in color and now there is a most attractive assortment, decorated in contrasting colors.

The set of bowls is always useful for mixing, and the small bowls are particularly convenient for refrigerator storage of salad dressing and leftovers. It is the casseroles, square, oblong, round or oval, that are probably more used than any other type of utensil.

They are suitable for souffles and for any combination of foods that need to go into the oven. Make use of these at luncheon or supper and sometimes for dinner dishes. They are appropriate for baking apples and especially convenient for corn bread that may be brought hot to the table and cut into squares for service.

A pie is attractive when served in its own fancy baking dish in which it has been prepared.

BAKED CABBAGE CASSEROLE

1 head (2 pounds) cabbage
1-inch boiling water in saucepan
1 beef bouillon cube
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground white pepper
1 cup grated sharp American cheese
1 cup buttered soft bread crumbs

Wash cabbage and shred finely. Place in a saucepan with boiling water and bouillon cube. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes or until cabbage is almost tender. Drain. In the meantime, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour and gradually stir in milk. Cook, until of medium thickness, stirring constantly. Stir in salt, ground white pepper and ¾ cup of the grated cheese. Combine cabbage and bread crumbs. Toss lightly. Turn into a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle top with remaining cheese. Bake in pre-heated, moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes or until cheese has melted and top is lightly browned. Yield: 6 servings.

Herbs Provide New Flavor in Fish Dishes

Toward the end of Lent, especially if one has been offering fish twice a week on the table, try a new recipe or two instead of using the standard fish dishes.

Turn to the stock of herbs. There are several that seem to blend better than others with fish. It is hardly necessary to mention the onion, such dependable seasoning. Of course this should be used discreetly. Among the other seasonings choose those with a delicate flavor and known as "fines herbes" to the French.

Oregano, basil and thyme are the most commonly used, although terragon, either fresh or dried, is also delicious with fish. Oregano, of sage. Basil, also popular among vor is reminiscent of it and also a variety of marjoram and its flaso popular among the Italians, is the Italians, and thyme, often an ingredient of Manhattan fish chowder, are other herbs frequently chosen for fish dishes.

Stuffed fish fillets combined with canned whole kernel corn are suggested for that novel Lenten dish.

Give Your Grass Simple Care And You'll Have Better Lawn

WASHINGTON (UP) — You can have a better lawn this year if you'll give your grass the same kind of simple, regular maintenance you give the family car.

You wouldn't expect to keep your car purring happily without regular oil and grease changes and repairs when parts break down.

Treat grass the same way. Give it a regular maintenance service with fertilizer, water, mowing and lime when necessary. When weeds or insects make lawn "repairs" necessary, the work should be done as soon as possible.

Good maintenance produces vigorous lawn growth and is the best way to keep out weeds and avoid grass disease. Agriculture Department turf experts report.

Any homeowner can make up his own lawn maintenance schedule if he builds it around these basic essentials:

Fertilizing

Divide your annual dose of lawn food into two or three applications a year. The fertilizing schedule should be tailored to the lawn's type of grass

Bluegrass, fescues, and other grasses which make most of their growth in the spring and fall should be fed in the early spring and late fall. Summer feeding does not help these grasses and may pep up crabgrass and other weeds. Zoysia and other grasses that grow fastest in hot weather should be fed during the summer.

For bluegrass and other cool season grasses apply fertilizer at the rate of three to five pounds of actual nitrogen for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. Warm season grasses vary widely in their nitrogen needs and Bermuda grass requires five to 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet annually.

Agriculture Department specialists say you'll get best results by dividing each fertilizer application into two equal doses of organic and inorganic plant food.

Inorganic fertilizer is the standard dry chemical material. Organic fertilizers, such as processed sewage, cottonseed and soybean meals are more expensive, but they release nitrogen slower and feed the grass over a longer period.

Tailor watering schedules to your grass, soil and climate.

Sandy soils need frequent watering in relatively light amounts. Clay soils need heavier applications at longer intervals.

In general, the lawn should not be watered until the grass shows signs of wilting. Then apply enough water to wet the soil six or more inches deep. Frequent light sprinkling causes grass to develop a shallow root system and encourage weeds.

Mowing

Keep cool season grasses trimmed to a height of about two inches. Close mowing, especially in hot weather, will weaken and sometimes kill most cool season grasses.

Warm season grasses, especially Bermuda grass, need closer mowing. Bermuda grass should usually be trimmed to about ½ inch and most other warm season grasses to about one inch.

Mow frequently even though there is little growth to cut. Clipping back grass which has grown unusually high is a shock to the plant's growing system.

Liming

Acid sandy soils usually need a light application of lime every two or three years. Clay soils need heavier doses every five or six years.

Weeds, Diseases and Insects

Most weeds can be controlled with herbicides such as 2, 4D. Crabgrass, one of the most common lawn weeds, can be controlled with PMA, kocn, and other chemicals. The key to victory over the crabgrass is to prevent the plants from producing seed in the summer and fall.

Lawn diseases are most likely to appear when drainage or soil aeration is poor. They may also be caused by over-watering, improper fertilizing or heavy clipping. Some common lawn fungus diseases like brown patch can be controlled with materials like tersan, calocure or special semesan, the Agriculture Department says.

Insect pests range from May beetles and Japanese beetles to army worms and chinc bugs. All can be controlled with such insecticides as chlordane, DDT, aldrin, dieldrin and malathion.

HIGHEST WAVE — New Director of the U. S. Navy's WAVES is Comdr. Winifred R. Quick promoted from personnel chief. She takes over Aug. 1.

San Francisco Quake Pioneers Recall Tragedy

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A thinning group of old-timers met today to recall the morning 51 years ago when an earthquake jolted San Francisco, touching off a fire that destroyed most of the city.

The major observance wast he lunch meeting of the 1906 Club, with attorney John P. Doran presiding. The program included a special tribute to East Bay cities for the aid they gave to San Francisco.

A group known as the South of Market Boys laid a wreath at Lotta's Fountain at a downtown intersection at 5:13 a.m., the exact hour at which the earth trembled on April 18, 1906.

Oldsters who recalled the 1906 earthquake said the one of last March 22 which rocked the southwestern part of the city could not even be compared.

Personal Income On the Climb

WASHINGTON (UP) —Personal income, a vital factor in the American economy, continued to climb last month.

The Commerce Department reported Tuesday night personal income in March was at an annual rate of $337,500,000,000. This was one billion dollars higher than the annual rate in February.

The department also said personal income in the first quarter of 1957 was at an annual rate of $336,500,000,000, 19 billion dollars or 6 per cent higher than in the first quarter of last year.

Lady Astor Prefers Dixie

PLYMOUTH, England (UP) — Lady Astor's Dixie heritage conquered her acquired British nobility today. It kept her from going wild about anything as Yankee as the sailing of the second Mayflower to New England.

The Virginia-born socialite, who became Britain's first woman member of Parliament, tape-recorded a good luck message and it was played at a farewell party for the ship's crew early today.

"God speed to this brave little ship and I only wish it were taking me back to Virginia," she said.

"Personally, I can't get very excited about the Mayflower," she added. "I'm a Virginian."

The Mayflower II is scheduled to sail sometime this week for Plymouth, Mass., recreating the journey of the Pilgrim fathers' ship 300 years ago.

The Mayflower's crewmen, dressed in tunics and stocking caps of 17th Century vintage, chuckled at Lady Astor's remarks and quaffed ale like their predecessors in James Hawker's wine cellar.

Also present were Mayor James Frazer of Plymouth, Mass., and Harry Hornblower, owner of the Plymouth Plantation. They are the leaders of the small Massachusetts colony which has gathered on England's southern coast to bid God speed to the tiny vessel.

Skipper Alan Villiers was not at the party. He was aboard his ship in Dartmouth Harbor, 20 miles to the east, anxiously scanning weather reports predicting northwesterly winds for Friday. With those winds a tug would have to tow the ship to Plymouth for the start of the trip.

Under provisions of the law, Sales and Use Tax Returns beginning January 1, 1957, must be filed on a 3-month, or quarterly, basis.

The first quarterly return, covering the period from January 1, 1957 through March 31, 1957, must be filed by April 30, with payment in full.

All taxpayers licensed to collect the 3 per cent Sales and Use Tax, including those selling, using or leasing property subject to the tax, are required to file a Quarterly Return.

Complete instructions and necessary forms have been supplied to all licensed taxpayers. Additional information—if needed—may be obtained at your nearest District Office, or by writing direct to the Bureau of Sales and Use Tax, 1846 Brookwood Street, Harrisburg.

Failure to file and pay on time will result in substantial penalties

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Eugene Sicilia, who died two years ago today, April 18, 1955.
Two sad and lonely years have passed
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day
Will always with us dwell.
We did not know the pain you had
Or hear your final sigh,
We only know you passed away
Without a last goodbye.
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
A bitter grief, the shock severe
To part with you we loved so dear,
Sadly missed by his Wife and Children

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Joseph Ogrodnik, who died eight years ago today, April 18, 1949.
Today our hearts are heavy,
Our thoughts are all of thee.
Oh! How we miss you, father, dear,
No one but God can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But, no, it isn't true.
For eight long years have passed,
And our hearts still ache for you.
Sadly missed by Wife and Daughter, Dolly.

In loving memory of my dear sister, Florence Brooks, who died five years ago today, April 18, 1952.
Her heart so kind, so loving, so true,
Loved and respected by all whom she knew.
To an active life came a sudden end,
She died as she lived, everyone's friend.
A bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with one I loved so dear.
Sadly missed by sister, Laura Fleming

In loving memory of our dear son, brother and uncle, Joseph Ogrodnik, who died eight years ago today, April 18, 1949.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Mother and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duda and Family

'Gene Austin Story' To Be Heard Sunday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Sit back, kiddies. This Sunday, TV will dip briefly into an era when rock 'n' rye outsold rock 'n' roll and mom and dad sang such lovely old ballads as "When They Changed My Name To A Number."

The occasion will be a Goodyear Playhouse production of "The Gene Austin Story," on NBC-TV. Austin, for the benefit of the newly arrived, was the Elvis Presley-Perry Como-Tab Hunter of his day.

"His popularity was fantastic," recalls Bob Kerr, Austin's one-time personal representative and the man who probably knows him best. "You can't imagine what it was like unless you lived through it.

Sales In Millions

"He sold 86, 87 million records, more than anybody in history. 'My Blue Heaven' went over eight million—400,000 of them in Japan. They used to release a new Austin record every Tuesday morning and you'd have to line up early at the store to make sure of getting it."

Austin, who popularized such tunes as "My Blue Heaven," "Sleepy Time Gal," "Ramona," "Melancholy Baby" and Yes Sir, That's My Baby." Of course, he had some clinkers, too.

'One dog was 'I Don't Care You Used To Be, I Know What You Are Today,'" remembered Kerr. "And there was 'When They Changed My Name To A Number'—Gene went into the publishing business with that and he went out with it. He printed 800 copies and got 900 back."

who was reared in Louisiana, has been living in semi-retirement since 1932 when he cut his last waffle for RCA Victor. He'll appear briefly on this Sunday's show to sing, "Too Late," one side of a new Austin platter.

The 55-year-old Austin also cut all or parts of 18 songs for the one-hour drama which will be lip-synched by George Grizzard, the young actor who will cavort as Austin. The story will center around one episode in Austin's life—a time when he was reported lost at sea.

Austin's palmiest days as a singer were in the late 1920's. "He was a ntural singer," said Kerr, "and I guess you could only say there have been about four others in our lifetime—Crosby, Sinatra, Como, Presley.

He Sang Soft

"But his success was a kind of combination of circumstances. Most of the other singers around then didn't really know how to approach the phonograph record. Like Al Jolson, they were all loud singers. They screamed.

"Well, along came Gene, the only one with mike technique. For the first time, the public got a taste of a simple crooner and they ate it up. Another thing—Gene had an uncanny knack of picking the right songs to sing. Thirty-one of his records sold over a million copies each."

It was Austin who popularized

Wardens Asked to Inform Parole Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—Wardens of county prisons have been urged by the state Parole Board to keep the agency informed of the records of individual prisoners.

Board Chairman Paul J. Gernert told the prison officials at a meeting here Tuesday such information would help the board to "make a good decision as to the iftness of the inmate for parole when the case is considered."

False Teeth Could Be Work of Art

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—False teeth should be looked on as a work of art, according to a California dentist who makes them for Hollywood movie stars.

Dr. Roland Fisher of Glendale, Calif., addressing the Florida Dental Society Tuesday, said dentists should note the artistic styles of sculptors in designing false teeth. He said false teeth should express the wearer's age, personality and sex.

"A man of 50 should not have the same type of false teeth as a man in his 20's," Fisher said.

Your Health—

Arthritis, Marriage Apparently Related

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Being single seems to have some advantages after all. Now before all you husbands run up to shake my hand for this rather brave statement, let me explain what I mean.

Recent studies seem to indicate there is a definite relationship between marriage and arthritis.

Women, we know, suffer from this often crippling disease much more than do men. The ratio is about three to one, I believe. And we know that women suffer the more severe forms of arthritis.

Dr. Sidney Cobb of the University of Pittsburgh School of Public Health reports that married women are more often victims of arthritis than are single women.

Furthermore, he says, women who are separated from their husbands or have been divorced or widowed, are more affected than those who remain married.

There seems to be valid reasoning to support his findings. We have long recognized that emotional factors play a major role in triggering this disease.

Marriage brings problems. I think all of you will agree with this. A single woman doesn't experience the emotional conflicts which accompany marriage and raising of a family.

Divorce, separation and widowhood often bring on one of the most common precipitating factors in arthritis — economic insecurity.

Of course, there are various other causes of the disease. Yet, one of the most reliable treatments for all forms of arthritis remains salicylate drugs — or just plain aspirin.

While you should consult your doctor if you have arthritis and should follow his instructions implicitly, he will tell you that salicylates are not only one of the most useful anti-arthritic medications, they are also one of the safest and the cheapest medicines. However, they should always be taken under the doctor's direction.

How Far Have the Russians Gotten with Guided Missiles?

—"I am quite sure that we will have a guided missile with a hydrogen-bomb warhead that can hit anywhere in the world. So you think we are behind now. —Soviet Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev April 1956.

BY DANIEL F. GILMORE

LONDON (UP) — How much of Russian missile — waving' is propaganda and how much is grim fact?

The answer may lie in the 'crash program' being carried out in the same field by the United States.

The world knows that the United States is developing an array of "ultimate weapons" to the utmost of its brain power and monetary resources.

In the Soviet Union where it is difficult to get an estimate on the number of streetcars, let alone strategic weapons, there are subtle signs that the Russians are in the race.

The illusion immediately after the war that the Russians were too backward to make a 5000 motorcycle, let alone an atom bomb, has long since gone.

How far have the Russians got on missiles?

U. S. Program

How far have the Russians got on missiles?

First, it may help to speculate where the United States is now.

U. S. Senator Richard B. Russell, recently quoted Air Force officials in Washington as saying that an American IRBM (intermediate range ballistic missile) would be "operational" within a matter of months. Officials subsequently disagreed. The consensus seems to be that the IRBM is at least two years distant.

IRBM missiles known to be under production include the Jupiter, Polaris and Thor with reported ranges of up to 1,500 miles.

More vague is the operational date of the ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile). Some observers claim that the ICBM—with a range of 5,500 miles—will not be ready until 1964 — seven years hence.

Western intelligence knows something of what Russia is doing along these lines.

And some of that information has inevitably filtered through to civilian aviation experts and journals.

During the height of the Suez crisis last winter, Moscow threatened missile attacks on Britain and France unless they halted their invasion of Egypt.

Within the past few weeks the West has noted an entirely new urgency in Russia's attitude to the missile.

"Missile gaps" might be another term.

Music Festival Will Continue Despite Attack

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UP)—The organizers of the San Juan Music Festival decided today to turn it into a three-week tribute to the late conductor Pablo Casals, as he lay in a critical condition.

Casals, 80, collapsed of a heart attack at rehearsals for the festival Tuesday, but was reported somewhat improved early today.

Doctors said Casals spent a restful night and they expressed hope he will continue to gain strength during the next 48 hours, the most critical phase of the coronary thrombosis which struck him.

They blamed his attack for that which President Eisenhower suffered in September, 1955.

Casals was resting in his oceanside home which the Puerto Rican government converted temporarily into a hospital with doctors, nurses and an oxygen tent.

United Press Writers Are Cited for Service

CHICAGO (UP) — Two United Press staff correspondents won 25th annual Sigma Delta Chi awards for distinguished service in journalism, it was announced Tuesday night.

Alfred Kuettner, UP bureau manager at Atlanta, Ga., was cited for general reporting and Russell Jones, who covered the Hungarian revolt for United Press last fall, was cited for foreign correspondence.

Presentation of the awards will be made at the professional journalism fraternity's annual banquet at New York City, May 16 by Sigma Delta Chi's national president Sol Taishoff, editor and publisher of Broadcasting Telecasting Magazine.

Kuettner and Jones were among the winners in 15 categories for outstanding work in press, radio, television and research done in 1956. Victor E. Bluedorn, national director of the awards, said at national headquarters here.

Kuettner's citation read:

"For distinguished service in the field of general reporting the Sigma Delta Chi award is made for 1956 to Alfred Kuettner, bureau manager of the United Press, Atlanta, Georgia, for his long and comprehensive analysis of the reaction of Southerners to the desegregation order of the Supreme Court.

"Writing under widely separated datelines, Mr. Kuettner revealed the sentiment of all classes of both races. As a result his clear, crisp writing displayed depth of perception and a remarkable degree of objectivity on what has probably been the major emotional issue of the generation."

Jones' citation read:

"For distinguished service in the field of foreign correspondence, the Sigma Delta Chi award for 1956 to Russell Jones of the United Press.

"Russell Jones was among the able American reporters who covered the story of the Hungarian revolt and its consequences. He brought to readers a feeling of being on the spot at one of the greatest crises of history. In gathering and filing his material under constant pressure of deadlines he faced great personal danger and unimaginable adversity, yet his dispatches were models of clarity, dramatic impact and completeness. His personal interpretation, written after his escape from Hungary, gave readers a new perspective from which to assess the ultimate significance of the events."

Jets Make 'Hole in Sky'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Jet aircraft made a "hole in the sky" here, a federal weather expert says.

The explanation of a publicized cloud formation seen here Feb. 22 was offered by Howard T. Orville, chairman of the U.S. Weather Advisory Committee on weather controls in Washington.

The phenomenon consisted of a big perfect circle of blue sky in a blanket of fluffy white clouds. The effect was visible to the naked eye and showed clearly on photographic plates.

Pictures were widely published and inquiries have poured in from across the nation, Orville said.

Orville said ice crystals from jet vapor trails "dropped through" a lower cloud layer leaving the dark blue hole.

Brutal Killer Is Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Somewhere, maybe in San Francisco, a scared man is hiding. Sooner or later he knows he's going to be caught.

For San Francisco police are in a relentless search for this man who on Sunday night struck and killed a pedestrian with his automobile.

It was more than a hit-run case. It was so brutal that an outraged public opinion demanded that the unknown driver be found and brought to justice.

The driver ran into Lloyd V. Stephens, 68, a machinist who was returning home from a night baseball game. The impact knocked Stephens off his feet, but witnesses believed he could have survived.

Somehow, Stephens became enmeshed in the undercarriage of the car. The driver got panicky. He began driving in short bursts of speed, and then slamming on the brakes in the hope of dislodging Stephens.

He did this for three blocks. Finally Stephens fell into the street dead and the unknown driver roared off into the night.

Stephens' body was horribly mangled. Most of his bones were broken. Death was caused by a fractured skull. The path of the death car was marked by a 1200-foot trail of blood.

Police Chief Frank Ahern said nothing in the city's history has approached Stephens' death in "sheer and calculated brutality."

Some 50 persons witnessed the tragedy.
